Mourners For McSwiney Condemn Britain And United States

(Reuter's Service)

London, October 26.—In the House of Commons last night, replying to a debate on the situation in Ireland and allegations of fresh reprisals by the police, Sir Hamar Greenwood, Chief Secretary for Ireland said that, despite the recent outrages, which he enumerated, the policy of the Government was meeting with rapid success, and the total number of outrages had rapidly decreased.

The issue was now between the assassins of the Irish Republic Army and the British Government. He asked the House to support him and the Government—not in suppressing Sinn Fein or the Irish language, because they had never done that—but in tracking down these assassins who barred the way to any settlement of the Irish political question.

New York, October 26.—It is estimated that 10,000 sympathisers with Sinn Fein attended mass-meetings here today to protest against the death of Lord Mayor MacSwiney.

The speakers criticised Great Britain and also the American Government for refusing to intervene in the cause of Ireland.

Bonar Law Expects Early Release Of Prisoners In Russia

(Reuter's Service)

London, October 26.—In the House of Commons today, replying to Sir W. E. Davison, Mr. Bonar Law stated that information, which the Government had received from the Soviet Government, gave reason to believe that arrangments were being made for the immediate release of British prisoners in Russia.

The first party of Russians in Great Britain would leave on October 27 and Mr. Bonar Law hoped that they would shortly be exchanged on the Polish frontier for about 30 British prisoners, including the members of the Military Mission. He also hoped that the prisoners at Baku would shortly be exchanged for 300 Russians from Egypt and Constantinople.

Dogs Are Honored By French Infantry

(Reuter's Service)

Paris, Oct. 27.—During the war large numbers of dogs followed the French troops and others and were regularly attached to units either as watch dogs or ambulance dogs. They were demobilised at the end of 1919. The Journal now announces that the Infantry Command, wishing to honor its faithful canine companions, has decided to attach four dogs to each infantry corps.

Joint Observance Proposed Of Thanksgiving Day And For Mayflower Anniversary

Committee Named At Meeting Held At American Consulate To Arrange Program For Approaching November Holiday

Preliminary plans for this year's observance of Thanksgiving Day by the American community in Shanghai were discussed yesterday afternoon at a meeting held at the American Consulate.

Those who attended the meeting were: Mr. M. F. Perkins Acting American Consul-General, who presided, Dr. J. B. Fearn, Mr. A. R. Hagar, Mr. F. R. Sites, Dr. Luther Freeman, new pastor of the Community Church—who has just arrived in Shanghai, Major C. P. Holcomb, Mr. R. P. Tenney, American Consul, Mr. C. R. Durbin, Mr. H. M. Mann, Mrs. C. S. Lobingier, president of the American Woman's Club, Mrs. W. H. Lunt, former president of the American Woman's Club and Miss L. Wilkinson.

Following the discussion that was held, on motion of Mr. Sites, a committee to proceed with arrangements was appointed by Mr. Perkins and in choocing its members the Acting Consul General followed the plan of naming heads of American organisations.

Besides the acting Consul-General, those now forming the committee, whose membership probably will be enlarged, are: Mr. F. R. Sites, who is Chairman of the executive body of the Community Church, Dr. S. A. Ransom, President of the American Association of China, Mr. C. W. Atkinson, who is head of the American Chamber of Commerce in the absence of Mr. H. H. Arnold, Mrs. C. S. Lobingier, President of the American Woman's Club, Major C. P. Holcomb and Mr. Fearn.

IS TERCENTENARY

In the course of the discussion on the question of the observance of Thanksgiving Day Mr. Sites informed the meeting that he had heard the suggestion advanced that as the tercentenary of the landing of the Pilgrims in New England falls in Thanksgiving Day week, a general observance both of this tercentenary and the American holiday, in which British residents of Shanghai might properly be invited to join might be deemed generally acceptable. In this connection another suggestion advanced was that on the occasion of the observance addresses from both an American and a British speaker should be arranged. The names of the Rev. A. N. Rowland, new pastor of the Union Church, and Dr. Luther Freeman as speakers for the occasion were mentioned.

In past years the Thanksgiving Day service has been held in the Union Church, this church having been generously offered to Shanghai Americans for the purpose, but according to views expressed at the meeting it was thought that, due to the rapid increase in the number of American here, the Union Church would not be large enough for a service of the kind contemplated. It was suggested that, particularly in the event that the occasion were made one to be observed jointly, both by Britons and Americans the Cathedral might be offered as a place for a service late in the afternoon of November 25.

All the matters discussed are to be considered by the committee which was named and which will issue a report at a later date.

Russians Here Aid In Relief; Big Famine Benefit Monday

Citizens of the local Russian community are taking steps to aid in the famine relief work being carried on in aid of the stricken districts of North China and yesterday held a meeting to formulate plans for raising funds.

A committee was named consisting of Messrs. J. A. Han, D. B. Rabinovich, V. P. Bogoloopoff, F. Shemeshko, V. A. Komarova, M. J. Baranovsky and M. Mishkis. The organisation is to act in conjunction with the relief workers of the Russian Democratic Club.

BENEFIT AT NEW WORLD

Plans are nearly completed for the monster three-day benefit to be held at the New World beginning Monday when the entire amount realised from sale of admission tickets, dinner seats and articles at numerous novelty booths will be turned over to the North China Famine Relief Fund. Local officials, amateur and professional actors, school children and Boy Scouts will appear in various items of the lengthy program.

REFUGEES ARRIVE HERE

Fifty-nine children from the famine devastated region about Loyang, Honan, have been brought to Shanghai by railway by the North China Famine Relief Association and the Chinese-Foreign Famine Relief Committee. They have been turned over to the care of the Dah Chong Tobacco Company, Avenue Edward VII.

SCHOOLS ARE OPENED

The following is a further report from the Apostolic of Southeast Chihli received by the Luzarist Procurate here:

Sienhsien, Oct. 3.—The Peking Committee's allowance permits me to come to the help of about 2,000 children during 8 months. These alms will be distributed in money form so as to aid their families indirectly.

Our school houses would allow us to receive about 10,000 children. But villages without schools are now offering us the loan of different houses in order to share in the distribution of alms.

Thus, the plan heretofore explained in my report has taken on unforeseen dimensions.

In order to more clearly show our determination to help all the distressed without distinction, we have opened schools in some entirely pagan villages of our neighborhood, where we have no houses whatever.

Evidently, the only limit to our help to the starving population will be the financial aid afforded us. Such is my reason for my coming before the Shanghai Committee and begging in favor of the famine-stricken people of my

Japan In Demands For Nikolaievsk Reparations

(Reuter's Pacific Service)

Peking, Oct. 28.—The Chinese and Japanese Governments have apparently agreed not to publish the finding of the Joint Committee on the Nikolaievsk affair, but demands which have been presented by Mr. Obata to the Government here show that at least one gunboat was found to have turned its guns against the Japanese.

These demands include:

1.—An expression of regret from the Chinese Government to the Japanese Government.

DEMAND APOLOGY

2.—An expression of regret from the officer commanding the Chinese Fleet to which the offending gunboat belonged, to the Japanese officer commanding in those waters.

3.—The punishment of those responsible for the bombardment, and

4.—Adequate means of consolation for the relatives of the Japanese killed by the bombardment.

(Staff Wire To THE CHINA PRESS)

Peking, Oct. 28.—The Japanese consider the demands, in connection with the Nikolaievsk affair, mild and regard the finding of the joint commission as generous as they claim the evidence shows that Chinese members of crews on Chinese gunboats, went ashore and assisted in the massacre.

FINDINGS SECRET

The findings can not be published without the mutual consent of both nations but it has been learned that the most damaging portion to China established the use of Chinese guns by attacking Partisans.

The Japanese have consented to eliminate the findings since the China naval authorities have denied the participation in the massacre of the Chinese sailors.

WOMAN WRITER FOR N.Y. WORLD HELD IN SIBERIA BY BOLSHEVISTS

Mrs. Harding, Famous War Correspondent, Reported As Prisoner

HAD FAVORED SOVIET

Brother At Peking Believes Account Of Event May Be Exaggerated

(China Press Correspondence)

Peking, October 26.—Mrs. Harding, correspondent of the New York World, who is described in an American News telegram from Nauen which has been picked up by a Chinese government radio station at Peking, as being held under arrest by the Soviet authorities in Moscow, is a younger sister of Mr. Harold I. Harding, Assistant Chinese Secretary in the British Legation here.

Mrs. Harding, who, as a widow, retains her maiden name, was born in Canada, but has spent most of her life in England and Germany. She is an artist, and it was the excitement of the Great War and the events following its close which caused her to drop her brush in favor of the pen.

MAKES RECORD

She happened to be in the Ruhr neighborhood at the time of the Sparticist revolution, and sent out descriptions of that movement and life in the trenches of the German Reds, where she was a frequent visitor, which at once ranked her among news writers.

She corresponded from Germany for the London Daily Mail for some time, later working on other British papers, and only recently accepting the commission from the old, conservative New York daily, the "World," to go to Russia.

The news of her arrest is unexpected, as she had letters to Tchitcherin and Joffe, and held friendly relations with many leading Russian and German communists with whose doctrines she was very sympathetic in her writing.

MAY BE EXAGGERATED

It is quite possible that the news of her arrest is exaggerated, as in the case of Frank H. King, Associated Press man who went in from this side last spring and whose temporary detention somewhere in the Ural region was reported as arrest and maltreatment. Last reports are that King arrived safely at Warsaw, from which place he has sent latters saying that his journey has cured him of his pro-Bolshevik sympathies.

Mrs. Harding made a visit to China before the war, and drew sketches and prepared material for a book on the scenic beauties of the Yangtsze gorges in Szechuen.

SEMENOFF BELIEVED TO BE INSTIGATOR OF URGA ATTACKS

(Reuter's Pacific Service)

Peking, Oct. 28.—Telegraphic communication between Peking and Urga was interrupted yesterday at Ude, from which point motors are conveying messages to Urga.

Chinese troops are being rpeeded to Urga from Heilungkiang, Kalgan and elsewhere, while Gen. Chang Tso-lin reports the despatch of three large and three small airplanes from Manchuria.

The latest reports to hand indicate that Ataman Semenoff is undoubtedly behind the Russian movement, and is possibly bringing reinforcements; and, further, that the invasion is merely a revival of an old scheme for establishing a Russian-Buriat-Mongol kingdom, including the territories of Khirghiz.

The Chinese authorities expect further fighting, and are preparing to send considerable forces to Outer Mongolia.

CHINA HOSPITALS AIDED; AMERICAN RED CROSS SENDS GIFT OF SUPPLIES

Materials Worth Half Million Are Being Distributed From Shanghai

400 SHIPMENTS FORWARDED

Hundreds Of Letters Tell Of Urgent Need For Things Being Received

Distribution of the $500,000 worth of medical supplies that was donated to hospitals in China by the American Red Cross is now well under way and 400 shipments have gone forward to hospitals in various parts of the country.

The supplies consist of gauze, absorbent cotten non-absorbent cotton, cellu cotton, bandages, surgical dressings, blanketing, Canton flannel, convalescent garments, hospital shirts, bottles, adhesive tape, vaseline, glycerine, ice caps, sterilizers, microscopes, incubators, sweaters, socks, surgical instruments and drugs of various kinds. The supplies given were those that were left in Siberia when the American Red Cross was withdrawn and the offering, consisting of 3,305 cases, was shipped to Shanghai to be distributed to mission hospitals regardless of nationality or creed.

LETTERS SHOW NEEDS

The four hundred shipments that have been made have been sent to 350 hospitals of which 232 are non-American and 118 American. Hundreds of letters received from mission hospitals clearly indicate the urgent need of such supplies, particularly at the present time when, owing to fluctuations in exchange and other causes emanating as a result of the war, working budgets of hospitals have been seriously impaired.

Among supplies given were five complete sets of surgical instruments, the marjority of which cannot be obtained by hospitals on the China markets, and which will be a very valuable asset to hospitals receiving them. All expense of handling and freight charges on shipments being borne by China Central Committee.

CHART IS PREPARED

In order that a basis might be arrived at for a systematic analysis of the requirements of all hospitals, so that an equitable and satisfactory distribution might be made, questionnaires were sent out to all hospitals June 5.

For convenience in making a systematic analysis of the supplies, the requirements of all hospitals and in determining quantities and commodities for distribution to each hospital, information submitted by hospitals on questionnaire was transferred to a statistical chart, which now gives a complete and accurate history of the distribution.

GENEROUS AID GIVEN

Fearon, Daniel and Co. Inc., gave to the Red Cross the use of their main godown and staff for the purpose of storing and shipping supplies. The Shanghai Tug and Lighter Co., Ltd., granted a

FRANCE TO SEND REPRESENTATIVE TO FUNERAL OF KING

(Reuter's Service)

Paris, October 27.—General Franchet d'Esperey, formerly commanding the Allied Army of the Orient, will represent France at the funeral of King Alexander of Greece.

The Chief of the Military Department of the President's household has communicated the condolences of M. Millerand to the Greek legation, and the Premier, M. Georges Leygues, has sent a telegram to M. Venizelos, assuring him of the sincere sympathy of France in the mourning in which the Greek nation is plunged.

The Petit Parisien gives the following details of the King's illness: "The King was bitten in the calf of the leg by the monkey and when Professor Vidal arrived at Athens poisoning had already set in. The French specialist did everything in his power to counteract the poisoning but he at once formed the opinion that the King was doomed. Nevertheless he advised the calling in of Professor Deblet, who might have been able by a successful surgical operation and complete cleaning out of the wound to save the patient if he had arrived in time."

Special precautions were taken by the Hongkong police on the arrival of these officials from Canton.

Canton, October 26.—The Cantonese army, it is stated, will not recognise any peace terms, negotiated by Generals Tsen Chun-hsuan and Lu Yung-ting, contending that they have not the right to represent the South-West.

Generals Li Fook-lum and Ngai Bong-ping have given General Mu Yung-hsien three days in which to evacuate Canton.

Arrest Of 'Mystery Man' At London Brings Pankhurst Letter To Light

(Reuter's Service)

London, October 26.—A sensational story concerning a "mystery man," who was arrested yesterday and is believed to be a Bolshevik spy, was told at Bow Street Police court this morning, when an alien who refused to give any information regarding himself was charged with failing to register.

The prosecuting counsel described him as "a most dangerous and undesirable individual," who had acted as go-between for the revolutionaries in Britain and Russia. The prisoner, he said, was conveying a number of letters, one of which was from Miss Sylvia Pankhurst to Lenin, stating that Britain was not ready for revolution. The letters were addressed to the Third Internationale Bureau at Moscow.

The prisoner, who is understood to be a Scandinavian or Finn, was remanded.

It may be remembered that the arrest of Miss Sylvia Pankhurst was recently announced by cable.

Coal Conferees Abate Demands In Hope Of Putting End To Strike

(Reuter's Service)

Paris, Oct. 27.—The mining crisis in Great Britain is slowly progressing towards a friendly settlement. The negotiations between the Miners' Executive and the representatives of the Cabinet were prolonged until a late hour yesterday.

London, October 26, 5:20 a.m. —It is understood that the differences between the miners and the Government have been considerably narrowed down as a result of the discussions, which are in progress. The miners have waived their claim for an unconditional advance of 2s. 0d. while the Government is prepared to give an increase of 2s. 0d. upon a satisfactory output arrangement. Thus both sides nave somewhat abated their demands.

It is proposed that the wage advance should be granted subject to review at an early date in the light of ascertained output and the cost of living, the owners to provide every facility for increasing the output including the provision of new plant where it is wanted.

PIT COMMITTEES

Pit committees are to be established, representing owners and miners, to ensure output and, finally, new permanent machinery is to be created to regulate wages in accordance with coal revenue and the cost of living.

It is stated that the miners' leaders have accepted these terms and promised to convey them to a full meeting of the Executive but they expressed a doubt as to whether the miners would accept anything short of an unconditional advance in wages.

London, October 26, 11:40 a.m. —The Miners' Executive will reopen official negotiations with the Government this morning.

MORE CONFERENCES

London, October 26, 9 p.m.—Conferences between the Miners' Executive and the Government lasted throughout the day with intervals during which the Government consulted the owners and also held a Cabinet Council as a result of matters reaching a critical juncture. After a further brief interview between the miners and the Government tonight, the conference adjourned until mid-day tomorrow.

London, October 26.—Prior to the Divisions on the Emergency Powers Bill in the House of Commons today, Mr. J. H. Thomas, in the course of a speech, acknowledging the Government's anxiety for peace, declared that the measure was unnecessary and inopportune.

Mr. Lloyd George stated that the Government were merely seeking powers, that they did not at present possess, for the event of a strike.

TO PROTECT POPULACE

The Prime Minister, whose speech was delivered just after the evening meeting between the miners' leaders and the Government, declined to offer an opinion as to whether the meeting justified being hopeful of the success of the discussions but pointed out contingencies in the conceivable event of the negotiations failing and the railwaymen and transport workers taking action.

He asked whether the Triple Alliance, whose tentative arrangements would paralyse the whole life of the nation, should be allowed to make preparations while the Government, which was responsible for 46,000,000 people, sat still and did nothing.

Vladivostok, October 27.—The Amur Bolshevik forces have occupied Habarovsk and have declared martial law in the town.

Britain Explains Stand On Property

(Reuter's Service)

London, October 26.—The decision of the British Government not to exercise the right to seize German property in England in the event of voluntary default by Germany is due to the Government's desire that the uncertainty on the part of individual Germans with regard to their property in England should be removed and that the resulting injury to British commercial and shipping interests should be obviated.

The effect of the clause of the Treaty as it stood was merely to prevent German shippers, owing to possible seizure, from placing their goods in British ships with the result that such trade was diverted to other shipping.

Increased Demand For Dyestuffs Fails

(Reuter's Service)

New York, September 24 (by mail).—The expected increase in the demand for dyestuffs following the resumption of operations by some of the textile mills has failed to materialise.

Inquiries for certain products have been rather more numerous, it is true, but actual business has been of small proportions. The prevailing tone remains easy and there has been some yielding of prices here and there, though there have been few reductions of importance.

The appearance has been noticed in the market recently of colors and intermediates of American manufacture that have been returned from Japan by consignees who have suffered reverses following the financial panic in that country. These products have been offered for resale at far below the original prices with an unsettling effect on some lines.

U.S. REFUSES TO AID HOARDING OF COTTON CROP

Planters Will Be Given No Advantage Over Other Producers

(Reuter's Service)

New York, September 24 (by mail).—Although demand for cotton from domestic and foreign sources has been small, there now seems to be an increasing interest in most of the buying centers.

In Texas, one reason for expected quick sale of cotton is the fact that financial conditions are such that the smaller banks will not be able to carry the buyers for any length of time.

Throughout the belt, the banks are doing their best to finance the farmer, and are receiving normal aid for the season from the Federal Reserve System, but can expect no special consideration from this body, any more than the wool, livestock, or other commodity interests will receive. In other words, the Government does not propose to lend itself to any scheme having for its purpose the hoarding of goods for expected higher prices.

The South is again attempting to tinker with the future markets, Senator Dial of South Carolina having prepared an amendment to the Cotton Futures Law which provides that "the seller has the option of tendering, and the purchaser of demand, delivery of any of the tenderable grades of cotton permitted under the act; provided, however, not more than one-fifth of the quantity of the contract shall be tendered or delivery demanded of any one grade."

Body Of Unknown Seaman Is Found Suspended From Tree

A Chinese, evidently a Cantonese seaman, hanged himself in the Public Gardens some time during Wednesday night.

The body, hanging from a tree near the kiosk at the northwest corner of the Gardens, was discovered at about 5:30 o'clock yesterday morning by a Chinese Police Constable.

P. C. Norton was sent to cut the body down and had it removed to the public mortuary, after an examination had been made at St. Luke's Hospital. The doctor who made the examination stated that the man evidently had been a heavy opium smoker. The dead man was dressed in a suit of blue dungarees and was about 30 years of age.

Troop Movements Of East Prussians Cause Uneasiness

(Reuter's Service)

London, October 26.—It is evident from telegrams from the French and German capitals that movements of troops, which are going on in East Prussia, have caused perturbation both in Paris and Berlin though for different reasons.

Reuter's Berlin correspondent telegraphs that the Freiheit indicates that reactionary intrigues are on foot.

The journal states that 120,000 well-armed White Guards have been assembled under the command of an East Prussian estate-holder, Captain Brands, in connection with a supposed monarchist movement.

A Government communique refers to armed men crossing into Lithuania and warns the nation against a repetition of Marshal von der Goltz's Baltic venture.

The German Defense Minister states that no regular troops are concerned but Reuter's Paris correspondent, on the contrary, telegraphs that the movements of German troops, as reported by the Inter-Allied Mission, have aroused suspicion that they are made with the purpose of supporting the Lithuanians against the Poles.

Wu Pei-fu Opposes Chi Shih-yuen As Tuchun Of Kiangsu

Branding Tuchun Li Shun's death as a mysterious affair, General Wu Pei-fu expressed his vigorous opposition against General Chi Shih-yuen as successor of General Li as Kiangsu Military Governor when he saw General Ho En-pu, Chief of Staff of General Li.

Ho went to Paotingfu to approach General Tsao Kun on Chi's behalf for the former's consent to the appointment of Chi as Kiangsu Tuchun. The conversation took place in the presence of General Wu Pei-fu.

In great excitement, General Wu reprimanded Ho for his peculiar attitude. He said that he was very much surprised at General Ho, who, in his opinion, should be doing all he can to clear up the mystery surrounding the death of Li. Contrary to his expectations he finds Ho now campaigning for another man to succeed his former master.

Wedding

BORRMAN-BARTLETT

Tuesday afternoon there was a pretty wedding in Grace Church, Soochow, when Miss Bernice G. Bartlett of Norwood, New York, and Mr. William F. Borrman of Soochow Academy were united in marriage, the Rt. Rev. F. R. Graves, D.D., of the Shanghai Diocese officiating. He was assisted by Rev. H. A. McNulty of Soochow.

A special car brought guests from Shanghai and the church was full. The decorations were in bamboo, and the center aisle was a series of bamboo arches. The chancel was profusely decorated with white carnations. Precisely at four-thirty the strains of the Bridal Chorus from Lohengrin were heard. Rev. W. P. Roberts, acting president of St. John's University, presided at the organ while his brother Mr. Donald Roberts played the violin. The ushers were Messrs. J. R. Norton, William S. A. Pott, and H. F. MacNair of St. John's University, and G. H. Sutcliffe of Soochow.

The groom, with the best man, Rev. E. L. Sanford of Changsha, entered from the side. The matron of honor, Mrs. H. A. McNulty, followed the ushers down the aisle and behind her came the bride leaning on the arm of Mr. Willard W. Bartlett, principal of the American School, Shanghai. The bride wore a simple dress of crepe-de-chine with pearl trimmings.

After the service the ladies of the American Church Mission gave a reception to the bride and groom at the home of Mrs. W. R. Standring and Miss A. B. Jordan. The home was very tastily decorated, and tea was served before the wedding cake was cut. The special car brought the Shanghai guests home on the evening train.

The bride is from St. Lawrence County, New York. She is a graduate of the University of Vermont. She arrived in China on the Nanking last week. The groom is a graduate of St. Lawrence University. He came to Soochow nine years ago after considerable experience in business and engineering in the States. Since then he has been associated with Rev. H. A. McNulty in Soochow Academy having been acting principal during the time that the latter was in America on his last furlough. He has hosts of friends throughout China.

The bride and groom will spend their honeymoon on a houseboat trip up country. After their return they will reside on the North compound of the American Church Mission.

Find Chinese Woman Stabbed To Death

A Chinese woman about 40 years of age was found murdered in a house at 1034 Sawgin Road by the Harbin Road police yesterday morning. The woman had evidently been strangled and then stabbed.

Four men living on the premises are being detained and the police are making further investigations. Neighbors state that there was no noise of any disturbance during the night and practically no information has been obtained from the woman's 12 year old daughter, who went out to work at an hour evidently previous to the commission of the crime.

Hongkong Budget Is Presented To Council

(Reuter's Pacific Service)

Hongkong, October 28.—The Budget for 1921 was presented in the Legislative Council today. Speaking upon it, the Governor stated that the estimated deficit for 1920 was $1,137,322, which was due to the reduction in the revenue derived from the opium monopoly from $6,000,000 to $4,500,000. It was estimated that the revenue for 1920 would be $15,336,350 and the expenditure $17,349,150.

It was intended to increase considerably the stamp duties, which were expected to yield $1,000,000 more than in the current year, and also to obtain an additional $60,000 from tobacco, $250,000 from water, $70,000 from the Post Office, $66,800 from the Railway, and $100,000 from land sales. The installation of a diaphane fog-signalling apparatus at Waglan had been provided for.

PROVIDE SCHOLARSHIPS

The Chamber of Commerce, he stated, had doubled its subscriptions for scholarships for Yunnan students attending the Hongkong University.

The expenditure on public works was the extraordinary sum of $4,967,400, which constituted a record vote.

It would probably be necessary to strengthen the staff of this department, but the Governor said he was prepared to place the work in the hands of private firms with the object of relieving the pressure on the Government staff, and also of encouraging local enterprise.

Half a-million dollars had been provided for quarters for Government officers. It was proposed to instal a Marconi-Bellini direction-finder at Care d'Aguilar in order to assist shipping in the foggy season. The question of the resumption of military lands in Victoria was appreciable nearer solution.

His Excellency proceeded to outline an extensive scheme for the development of Kowloon, including the provision of a motor-omnibus service.

DISCUSSES HOUSING

The Governor said he had been at some pains to ascertain what was the extent of the actual shortage of housing accommodation for Europeans without having been able to reach any definite result. The question was primarily an economic one, and could not be greatly affected by Government action.

The Governor added that he was considering steps to ensure that land suitable for building was not allowed to remain unoccupied.

Continuing His Excellency said he regarded the prospects for the future as bright, and the difference between revenue and expenditure need not cause anxiety. He did not consider that the circumstances necessitated the imposition of any new form of taxation at present.

HOPES FOR PEACE

"It is unfortunately the case that China is still crippled with internal dissension. The acute situation that has recently arisen close to our borders is reflected in the stagnation of trade, which is depressing the colony's markets. I hope a satisfactory settlement will speedily be reached, and that our neighbors in Canton will enter on an era of prosperity which is bound to come as soon as the country is at peace."

The Governor concluded his speech by expressing his appreciation of the assistance afforded him in various matters by the Kowloon Residents' Association.

Boy Scouts Secure Tls. 2,500 Bequest

British Court Turns Over Fund Left For Old Boys' Brigade

A trust fund of Tls. 2,500 and an accumulated income of about Tls. 500 left by the late Mr. James Tulloch of the Boys' Brigade, was turned over to the Baden Powell Boy Scouts Association of Shanghai yesterday by reason of a decision by Judge Skinner Turner of the British Supreme Court.

The funds were turned over because of the death of the Boy's Brigade and followed an application made by Mr. E. L. Hartopp on behalf of the trustees for directions regarding the disposal of the money. The Boys' Brigade passed out of existence in 1913 and was succeeded by the Shanghai Boy Scouts organisation which also went out of existence later. In this consideration application was made to have the fund revert to the estate.

A claim to the money was instituted by the Baden Powell Scouts, organised by a member of the old Boys' Brigade and Judge Skinner Turner held that where a testator intended to give a bequest to a charity, charity attached to that bequest if it ever came into the hands of a charitable institution.

vicariate, comprising 39 sub-prefectures.

Another means of heping the distressed, not in our power, less direct but nevertheless capable of saving thousands of human lives, is that of giving employment to the men strong enough to work.

URGES NEW RAILWAY

The newspapers have announced the construction of a railway between Shih Kiachwang and Tsangchow. This railway line, which passes through Sienhsien, crosses certain districts very hard pressed and its construction would be the means of saving many men. No time should be lost, however, work should be pushed ahead without delay because building embankments, digging, etc., becomes very difficult in winter.

Could it not be possible to ask the authorities of Shanghai to earnestly entreat whom it may concern in official or railway circles to start work immediately and thus perform a magnificent act of charity.

It seems impraticable for us to distribute food. The ideal way of helping the starving population would be for the Government itself to furnish the markets of the interior with food-stuffs during the famine. Those still possessing money could procure what is necessary, for their sustenance, whilst the poor, availing themselves of the pecuniary alms given them, could likewise, purchase food in the same markets.

ENTIRE POPULATION NEEDY

This seems to me the most simple and most practical method, seeing that almost the entire population is in dire need.

It must be remembered that it takes about $2.50 for the care of a child per month and that this must be kept up during eight months. If by experience we find it possible to diminish the amount of money required for each child, what can thus be saved, will be ployed to increase the number of children taken care of.

Moreover, the reports regularsent to the Committee would give them an exact account of the way in which the alms have been employed.

Sincerely yours,

Journal For China Industries Makes Initial Appearance

The "Chinese Engineer and Contractor," successor to the "China Industrial Magazine," a monthly illustrated journal devoted to the industrial development of China, has just made its first bow before the public.

The old magazine was published in 1913 by Mr. Wu Tse-wei, who is now in France in connection with Chinese educational work, and his friends. Because of the pressure of other work, Mr. Wu and his friends are obliged to place the publication under a new management.

The magazines aims to aid in the development of industrial enterprises and of the great natural resources of China and answers to the great need which the engineering profession in China had longed desired.

The contents of the first number comprise of congratulatory messages from Dr. Sun Yat-sen, ex-Provisional President of China and Mr. Liu Shan-ting, editor of the Eastern Times; articles on "Chinese iron mining: present and future"; "Four years engineering work in Vladivostok,"; "A description of the South Manchuria Railway workships," "Bridge engineering during the great war"; "Development of concrete construction"; "Concrete construction of railways"; "Construction of mortar and brick walls"; "The Philippine sugar industry"; "The Japanese tea industry" and news and general information of the industrial and engineering world.

The editor of the publication is Mr. Theodore Chen.

How To Make Sales In China To Be Explained Tonight At Advertising Club's Meeting

If American and European manufacturers could be in Shanghai tonight and attend the meeting of The Advertising Club, they would listen to some interesting facts regarding selling and advertising in China. So much has been written and said about the right and the wrong way to make an article salable in China that the members of the Ad. Club have taken the matter into their own hands to find out for themselves exactly how it should be done.

For this purpose they have taken as a typical example of an article of universal consumption, tinned milk, and they propose to devote a portion of every monthly meeting this year to showing some phase of the work connected with the preparation and selling of milk in the Chinese market.

PLAN IS COMPLETE

The meeting will consider the kind of packing, a name, trade mark and chop which best meets the conditions encountered here in China. The members do not confine themselves to theoretical discussions but produce the actual article dressed up in the form which an advertising department would submit to a board of directors and explain why so and so is recommended.

Most milk when it is offered to the public has little to attract the average buyer from the standpoint of labels and shape, and the Ad men believe that they have solved the problem in a novel and entirely new kind of container. The model has been prepared by Mr. A. C. Row of the British American Tobacco Co. The label is one that would attract any customer going into a store or looking into a show window and the method of attaching it to the tin is also a radical departure from the established manner. The meeting will be held in the Y.M.C.A. 120 Szechuen Road at 5:30 p.m. and the public is invited to attend.

Preceding the regular meeting the Committee appointed by Dr. Fong F. Sec, President of the Club, will organise to ecoperate with the Foreign and Chinese Famine Relief Association for assisting in the advertising for funds.

Those who attend the meeting will also have an opportunity to hear Mr. A. R. Hagar, former President of the Club, who has just returned from his trip to America, and also the Hon. C. H. Chu, Chinese Consul General at San Francisco, who will address the meeting on "Possibilities Of Increased Trade Between China And America."

The meeting will not last over two hours and will be over by 7:30 o'clock.

FURTHER HEARING HELD YESTERDAY IN BIG OPIUM CASE

Mixed Court Orders Confiscation Of Both Drug And Containers

Another phase of the $30,000 opium case was written off yesterday in the Mixed Court when there was a further hearing before Assessor Jacobs and Magistrate Li of the case against one Wong Dah, a 16-year old coolie who was arrested in the Shanhaikwan Road with two charcoal baskets of the drug on October 19.

Mr. J. B. Davies appeared for the defendant and Mr. Faithfull prosecuted for the police. Evidence of the arrest was given and Detective Sergeant Kiloh told of a subsequent search of premises at 243 Shanhaikwan Road, where some eleven cakes of opium similar to that carried by the coolie was found. Later on 26 additional cakes were found.

ZINC IS FOUND

There were found also in the house 75 large blocks of zinc, which had evidently been remoulded and a further 96 blocks of the metal of different sizes. This latter lot, when cut open, was found in each instance to contain tins of opium. The remoulded lot contained none. The police found also 142 empty tins similar to those contained in the zinc. Each of the full tins found contained about three and a half pounds of opium.

The defendant, when placed in the box, said that he had come to Shanghai recently with one Yang Tsien-ching, under whose instruction he was conveying the baskets at the times of his arrest. The zinc had been brought to Shanghai by Yang and he, the defendant, knew nothing of any opium.

Mr. Davies stated that before the Court came to a decision regarding the disposal of the seizure he wished to say that he represented a Japanese firm which claimed the zinc. The firm had no knowledge whatever that opium was contained in it and the metal was valued at Tls. 5,000.

WARRANT ORDERED

Mr. Faithfull said that he would be only too glad to see the Japanese gentlemen and question them in the matter. They would doubtless be able to give information as to where the zinc had been secured.

The court ruled that a warrant be issued for Yang Tsien-ching and that the accused be remanded in custody for two weeks, pending search for Yang, and if the latter be not found in that time that the prisoner be brought up again for further order. The opium, the court held, was contraband, and since it was contained in the zinc ingots both should be confiscated. If the Japanese wanted redress they could get it from the Chinese who sold the metal.

Caesar's Wife

"Caesar's Wife" has travelled down through the passages of history as a lady who should, and does, appeal to all men and women for her innate goodness. We saw a modern version of "Caesar's Wife" last evening, when the Bandman Company, presented a comedy built upon the theme of a wife without reproach.

The play had quite a successful reception in London, but this was due in large part to the fact that the principals were Miss Eva Moore, Miss Fey Compton, and Mr. Aubrey Smith. The comedy is well written. It has a number of good lines. But it has very few situations that will appeal to an ordinary audience. To make the play fly over the footlights, effects, players, and lines, all call for the very best attention.

The Bandman Company missed fire in the piece. It is the least successful of all their productions. A fairly full house was generous to whatever good points were discerned. But the piece did not suit the players.

"Caesar's Wife" will be repeated tonight.

The six Hongkew Creek "pirates" who were sentenced to two years' imprisonment by the Mixed Court Tuesday, reappeared before that tribunal yesterday and received another year each for another boat robbery reported since the original case was tried. It was shown that the men had intimidated and robbed three Chinese boatmen employed by the Oriental Egg Co., 2376 Boone Road.

UNVEIL MEMORIAL TO HEROES OF BAR

Judge Skinner Turner Officiates At Ceremony In British Supreme Court

Simple but impressive ceremonies were carried out yesterday morning at the British Supreme Court when the handsome marble and bronze memorial erected in tribute to the members of the British Bar who lost their lives in the great war was unveiled by Judge Skinner Turner. The unveiling ceremony was performed in the presence of Consul-General Sir Everard Fraser and most of the members of the British Bar.

The memorial is built into the wall of the Supreme Court behind the main entrance and bears the following names: Loftus E. P. Jones, Frederick W. Grantham, Henry Sigismund Oppe, John C. E. Douglas, Charles Gordon Kirke, Kenneth T. J. Parsons, Skinner R. Sebastian and Peter S. Dixon.

When called upon by Mr. H. P. Wilkinson, Crown Advocate, Judge Skinner Turner expressed regret at the absence of Sir Havilland de Sausmarez, the Judge of the Court, and read a message of eulogy and appreciation which Sir Havilland had sent to be read in tribute to the fallen members of the bar. Judge Skinner Turner, in continuing, said that while he did not know personally all of the men whom they were commemorating he was proud to unveil the memorial and to add his tribute to their memory. It would serve as a permanent reminder of the sacrifice they had made for the administration of justice, the advancement of truth and the punishment of wrong.

Mr. D. McNeill thanked Judge Skinner Turner for his part in the ceremony and also voiced the gratitude of the subscribers to Mr. H. M. Spence and Mr. J. Bradley for their assistance in the erection of the memorial.

TEETHING WITHOUT TEARS
A NEW LIGHT ON BABY-REARING

It is a recognised fact that Babies—and in fact all Children—need medicines of their own, and that most baby-medicines do more harm in the long run than good. Also great mistakes are often made in measuring doses for tiny patients. Baby's Own Tablets, the Canadian medicine for Children of all ages, meet every difficulty. They are guaranteed to be absolutely harmless and free from opiates. They are so soft that they fall into powder at very slight pressure, forming an ideal dose for infants.

Baby's Own Tablets are pleasant to the taste; slightly laxative, comforting and digestive—a specific for feverishness, constipation, diarrhoea and worms. At the time of teething they act like magic, giving painless sleep and easy teething.

Obtainable from chemists, also at 60 cents the vial, post free, from the Dr. Williams' Medicine Co., 96 Szechuen Road, Shanghai.

BRITISH FOOTBALL TEAMS APPEAR EVENLY MATCHED IN SEASON'S FIRST GAMES

Not One Eleven In First Division Of League But Has Sustained At Least One Defeat; Latest News Of Doings Of The Clubs

(From The Manchester Sunday Chronicle of Sept. 11)

Not a single team in the First Division of the Football League now remains undefeated. The Albion, Sunderland and Oldham Athletic all surrendered their colours yesterday for the first time.

Bolton Wanderers beat the Albion by the convincing score of 3 goals to none. Sunderland made a good fight at Blackburn, but were overcome by a couple of goals. Up to a point in the second half Oldham Athletic were level with Liverpool, but afterwards they were overwhelmed, and three goals for the Anfield team came quickly.

The Villa goal-getters were again in good form, as the 'Spurs found out. The home teams in the First Division generally had a good day, but an exception was the downfall of Derby, Everton winning by 4—2.

BOLTON v. WEST BROM.

This match drew a crowd of 35,000 spectators at Bolton. The Wanderers were without Elvey, while the Albion lacked the services of Smith, their goal-getter, and Morris.

Smith secord for Bolton in the first half from a lovely center by Donaldson.

Roberts and Smith scored for Bolton in the second half. Result: Bolton 3, West Bromwich Albion 0.

ARSENAL v. MANCHESTER

When the Manchester City team took the field at Highbury it was noticed that they had one change from their advertised team, Taylor taking the place of Fayers at center-half.

With ten minutes of the second half gone the Arsenal got a surprise opening goal.

Five minutes later Pagnam headed a second from a corner-kick well placed by Blyth, and the spectators became very merry and bright.

ASTON VILLA v. TOTTENHAM

There were 50,000 spectators to watch the Spurs and Aston Villa at Aston. Early in the game Tottenham almost scored, Seed meeting the ball with his head down lown, and Hardy having to exercise great judgment in saving.

After five minutes' play the Villa opened the score, Dorrell running in to receive in front of the posts and give Jacques no chance.

In less than 30 minutes the Villa added a third goal, Darrell made a magnificant run from half way, sent well across, and from Stephenson's return Walker headed through. Half-time: Villa 3, 'Spurs 0.

Walden scored the final goal. Result: Aston Villa 4, Tottenham 2.

DERBY COUNTY v. EVERTON

Derby opened promisingly against Everton at Derby, but their best marksmen were rendered ineffective by a stolid defense. Everton were much more dangerous when they got within shooting distance, which they frequently did by means of well-concerted movements.

A minute from interval Gardner scored again for Derby, the goal being vigorously disputed by the Everton defense. Half-time: Everton 2, Derby County 1.

Gardner failed to improve upon a well-placed center when in an excellent position. Maskery was frequently severely tested, particularly by Crossley and Peacock.

BRADFORD v. SHEFFIELD

There were 12 000 at Park Avenue when Sheffield United provided the opposition. In the opening stages Bradford were more dangerous, but the United rallied, and Johnson dashed through and sent in an oblique shot which Scattergood saved with his finger-tips. Five minutes from the interval McLean scored with a straight shot which puzzled the goalkeeper, and added a second just on half time from a similar movement, after drawing out the goalkeeper. Interval: Bradford 2; Sheffield United, 0.

BLACKBURN v. SUNDERLAND

Lovegr Blackburn, the Rovers played Johnson at outside-right, and Sunderland had Johnson for the first time in a League match.

The Rovers started the game before 30,000 spectators, Holland missing with a couple of shots early on. Buchan and Travis penetrated the Rovers' defense, but failed near goal, and Hobson cleared a dangerous move by Dawson. Hawkesworth opened the Rovers' account, and play continued fast and exciting to the interval, when the Rovers led by 1-0.

On resuming Sunderland should have quickly equalised when Robinson, their outside-right shot wide. For some time Sunderland pressed hard, but the defense was sound, and play being transferred, Scott twice saved long, low shots from the Rovers' new right-winger.

MANCHESTER v. CHELSEA

Chelsea made a number of changes against the United at Old Trafford. Croal appeared at inside left, and Wilding center forward.

Manchester United played Leonard, for whom they have just given £100 to Derby County, and re-introduced Meredith, who retained the side. There were 35,000 spectators.

After 10 minutes Bettridge handled in the penalty area. Meehan scored with a fast drive. The Chelsea inside-right found himself in possession of the ball with a clear course, but from 18 yards he drove the ball over the bar.

The teams were on level terms at the interval. After 25 minutes' play in the second half Meehan scored from penalty kick for hands.

NEWCASTLE v. PRESTON N.E.

At St. James Park 45,000 people witnessed Newcastle United meet Preston North End. The Tynesiders brilliantly outplayed their opponents in the opening

TENNIS TOURNEY ON HARD-COURT WILL BE HELD

Idea Not Abandoned, As Was Believed—French Club To Sponsor Event

BY "FOREHAND"

It seems that Shanghai is to have a hard-court tennis tournament, after all. The previously-published report, to the effect that the Cercle Sportif Francaise had apparently abandoned the idea for 1920, for lack of someone to "father" it, was either incorrect or had the effect of bringing forward the necessary volunteers.

At all events, the tournament is on and will begin on November 6, continuing on the 7th, 8th, 9th, 10th, 13th and 14th. Play will commence at 2 p.m. each afternoon. A big field of players will almost surely enter for the tourney, which is in the hands of Mr. A. Alexander, of Babcock and Wilcox, Ltd., at No. 1 The Bund, to whom entries should be sent.

In connection with the hard-court tournament the French Club authorities will stage a mixed-doubles tournament and an American Handicap tournament on grass courts.

The tournaments will consist of ladies' singles and doubles matches, gentlemen's singles and doubles, and the mixed doubles events.

Leitao Is Winner Of S.V.C. Trophy

Mr. Leitao, the Portuguese marksman, has walked off with the grand aggregate of the S.V.C. rifle shoot for 1920, according to unofficial advices received yesterday. The tabulated scores will be published as soon as they can be got ready.

Mr. Leitao will wear a handsome gold trophy pin (or badge) as the result of his prowess on the mounds.

Big Crowd Is Expected To Attend Police Sports

This is the sort of thing you will see at the Public Recreation Ground tomorrow afternoon, when the annual police sports program will be given as a benefit for the North China famine sufferers.

Several Heats Are Run Off In Anticipation Of Long Program Tomorrow Afternoon—Good Marks Made By Athletes

All is in readiness for the big annual Police Sports Meeting at the Public Recreation Grounds tomorrow afternoon. The big entry list of athletes is reported to be in top-notch form and the events on the program will undoubtedly be keenly contested.

Heats in several of the events, in which the list of candidates was so large that all could not be accommodated at one time, were run off yesterday afternoon. The results were as follows:

120-yard hurdles—First heat: A. M. Gutierrez, first; G. M. Silva, second; H. Champney, third. Time: 20 seconds.

Second Heat: G. A. Johansen, first: Lawrie Smith, second; V. A. Sheldon, third. Time 20 1/5 seconds.

220-yard dash (flat)—First heat: A. M. Gutierriez, first; G. A. Johansen, second; V. A. Sheldon, third. Time: 25 1/5 seconds.

Second Heat: F. O. Madar, first; F. M. Gutierrez, second; F. Noodt, third. Time: 24 1/5 seconds.

440-yard dash for Schoolboys—First heat: D. Rose, first; V. d'Aquilar, second; E. Petersen, third. Time 1:01 1/5.

Third Heat: F. Madar, first; J. Kabelitz, second; A. Gesu, third. Time: 60 seconds.

120-yard dash for Police—First heat: Isaacs, first; Macintosh, second; Cameron, third. Time 13 seconds.

Football: Recs defeated Public School, five goals to one; St. Xavier's defeated the Electrics, two goals to none. The Recs and St. Xavier fives, consequently, will meet in the finals on Saturday, at the Rec grounds, beginning at four o'clock.

Public To Pay Half A Million To Watch Fight

The Dempsey-Carpentier boxing contest will not take place until late spring or early summer, according to a Reuter despatch (French Wireless) received in Shanghai yesterday.

(By U. S. Naval Radio)

New York, Oct. 26.—Promoter Tex Rickard, who plans to stage the Dempsey-Carpentier boxing contest in Madison Square Garden, this city, sometime during January, will meet the managers of the two fighters some day this week and endeavor to come to a definite agreement regarding the date and other details of the big affair.

It is expected that the "gate" for this international contest, which is scheduled to go fifteen rounds unless a knockout occurs, will run well over half-a-million dollars.

The State Boxing Commission is said to have signified its willingness to permit the bout, if properly conducted.

CRICKET TEAM LEAVES MONDAY FOR HONGKONG

May Have Benefit Of Capt. Barrett's Strong Arm In Triport Matches

The official line-up of Shanghai's cricket team which will sail on the Empress of Japan next Monday for Hongkong, there to defend the honor of the International Settlement in a three-cornered tournament against representatives of the Crown Colony and Singapore, has been announced as follows:

H. W. Allison, C. Brook, W. C. G. Clifford, P. H. Cobb, D. W. Leach, Dr. H. H. Morris, W. H. P. McMeekin, H. B. Ollerdessen, A. E. Piercey, Rev. C. E. Spencer, F. L. Wainwright (Captain), R. R. Grimshaw.

Mr. Grimshaw travels with the team as 12th wan and will also act as Secretary to the team during their stay in Hongkong. Mr. McMeekin will not leave Shanghai with the team, but he is expected to meet them in Hongkong as he is on his way up from Singapore, where he has been to meet his wife and child from England.

A rumor is afloat to the effect that Capt. E. I. M. Barrett, now en route home from England, may reach Hongkong in time to participate in at least one of the matches.

This, of course, would be of immense benefit to the local eleven, unless the doughty Captain, after six weeks on shipboard, found himself "gone stale" and unable to offer his services.

GROUND BOYS' MATCH

Some good sport should be had at the S.C.C. grounds tomorrow, beginning at one o'clock, when the annual match of the Ground Boys, S.C.C. versus the ground boys S.R.C., will take place. The teams are as follows:

S.C.C. Boys.—Sao King-foo, King Long, May May, Chang Foh, Ker Sung, Dai Hai-loo, Ah Sung (Capt), Sao Chai-pao, Moh Ling, Sz Hai, Ah Sung.

S.R.C. Boys.—King Foo (Capt), Nee Lang, Kwei Zui, Lea Sung, Zau Lea, Soang Chung, Kwei Ning, Ah Foh, Fong Ker, Hsu Kee, Lu Hai.

Some of these lads are really splendid cricketers and there is little doubt that an excellent contest will be staged.

DOUBLE BETS VOIDED

(Reuter's Service)

London, Oct. 26.—The abandonment of the Cambridgeshire stake renders double-event bets on the Cesarewitch and Cambridgeshire void.

THE ST. LEGER TOMORROW

Tomorrow, at Kiangwan, the classic St. Leger Stake race will be run, under the auspices of the International Recreation Club. A splendid program of other races has been provided by the club and should attract a goodly crowd to the picturesque suburban course.

ALL-CHINESE BALL TEAM, CHAMPIONS OF HAWAII, MAY COME TO CHINA IN SPRING

Are Considering Offers From Both American And Far Eastern Promoters; Will Tour China In March If Oriental Trip Materialises; Have Speedy Outfit

The All-Chinese baseball team of Honolulu, champions of the Hawaiian Islands, are planning an invasion of the Orient similar to the one they made in 1915, according to Mr. Mike Jay, sports editor of the Honolulu Star-Bulletin.

The matter is not yet settled, as several colleges on the mainland of the United States are angling for the Hawaiian team and have made attractive offers of a trip to America. These Hawaiian-born Chinese are a fast, hard-hitting aggregation of ball-tossers and are immensely popular in Honolulu.

Writing in the Star-Bulletin recently, Mr. Jay made the following statements regarding the possible trip of the ball team to the Far East:

"Shall it be the Orient or the mainland?

"This is the question that has been put up to the Chinese baseball nine, champions of the Hawaiian Islands, by baseball promoters from New York and Manila, Philippine Islands. The offer from New York was brought back to the local club by Luck Yee, who returned to the city recently; while the Manila offer was put up to W. Tin Chong of the team.

"Although no meeting of the team was held, the general opinion of the players calls for the best offer. A tour of the States would be expensive in that the railroad fares have gone up considerably, while on the other hand a trip through Japan, China and the Philippines would not hit the boys hard financially. Last year the team was given an offer of $7,500 for a series of seven games at Manila, but the offer was turned down.

FAR EAST OLYMPAID

"The Far Eastern Olympic games for 1921 will be staged at Manila and for that reason sport promoters there are anxious to have the Chinese squad appear again on Philippine soil. In 1915 the team made the trip and won the Far Eastern title when it took eight out of nine games played. The Olympic games start in early March, and if the offer is accepted by the Chinese, the team will leave here the first week of February.

"A member of the club will be going through the Orient next month on business, and while there he will make negotiations for the proposed trip. The Chinese players are anxious to take a crack at some of the strong Japanese aggregations in Japan and there is a possibility that a series of games could be arranged for the island bunch.

HAS ADDED STRENGTH

"Should the team decide to tour the States it will be greatly strengthened with the addition of two of the best known Chinese performers of the diamond in Vernon ("Shorty") Ayau, shortstop; and Bill ("Buck") Lai Tin, third baseman.

"Both Ayau and Bill Lai are playing professional ball in New Jersey, the latter having just completed his contract with the Bridgeport club of the Eastern league. The last trip the Chinese made to the States was in 1917."

GOLF MEETING "BOMB" FAILS TO BLOW UP

A large crowd of golf devotees assembled at the Pavilion of the Shanghai Golf Club last evening to participate in the annual meeting of that organisation, and in a prospective discussion of certain matters in connection with the proposed open championship of North China which have been agitating club members for some time past.

Contrary to expectation, the meeting proceeded with the utmost smoothness "from overture to finale," and the questions which were supposed to be "loaded" scarcely came up for discussion at all. Mr. R. Wood proposed a resolution cutting the number of qualifying golfers in the championship from sixteen to eight, but failed of a second for his motion.

The same committee was re-elected to serve for another year, and Dr. R. S. Ivy was chosen to succeed himself as president. It was the sense of the meeting that the rules for the open championship, which now seems assured, be left entirely in the hands of the committee.

Resolutions were adopted favoring the invitional open tournament, for the championship of North China, to be held just before the spring race meeting of the Shanghai Race Club; also other resolutions having to do with absentee members and changing the rules governing suspension.

WHAT WOMAN NEEDS

above all things are Health and Happiness. These are the true Woman's Rights! Every woman is entitled to them. Dame Nature intended her daughters to be healthy in body and happy in mind. Any woman conscious of pain and trouble which she feels might be removed will be well advised to make careful enquiry as to the cause. If it is found—as indeed is frequently the case—that a disordered digestion is giving rise to ill-health and the consequent depression of spirits, medicine of the right sort will doubtless soon set matters right. But it must be of the right sort. Beecham's Pills are to be strongly recommended for woman's needs. They may be taken with perfect confidence for derangements of the digestive organs, including such unpleasant ailments as sick-headache, biliousness, flatulence, constipation and the lassitude and worries often incidental to her sex. Every woman may get nearer to Health and Happiness by using

St. Andrew's Society Elects C. Gordon Mackie President

Mr. C. Gordon Mackie was elected President of St. Andrews Society to succeed Mr. Gavin L. Campbell at the annual meeting which was held at the Town Hall. Mr. C. J. Scott was chosen Vice President.

Mr. Campbell presided at the meeting and was supported by Dr. H. C. Patrick, and Messrs. C. J. Scott, John Prentice, Fraser Ferrier, Gavin Wallace, M. B. Anderson and R. A. Russell, the Honorary Treasurer.

In his address the Chairman said the past year had been one of transition and he stated that while a number of proposals had been laid before the committee it had been thought in view of general conditions that changes should not be made at this time. Concerning a proposal for more frequent gatherings of the organisation the Chairman voiced the opinion that at present it is best to concentrate on the single annual celebration. He said that the suggestion to admit ladies to membership was one the Committee had been unable to entertain, holding it to be too much of a departure.

The Chairman announced that $590 had been expended in charitable work in the course of the year, half of which had gone for school fees. In the year the Chairman said 115 new members had been added to the roll and 31 were lost. Referring to the ball given last year he expressed the opinion that it was one of the best ever held.

He reported that the loss on the year's working had amounted to $30 and said that, everything considered, there was cause for congratulation. On motion of the Chairman seconded by Mr. Gavin Wallace, the report and accounts were adopted.

The meeting voted $200 for bursaries and a vote of thanks was extended to the retiring officers. On motion of Capt. J. P. Lowe it was voted to hold the Caledonian Ball as usual. The committee was elected without vote.

stages, and Doolan, in attempting a header from Seymour, headed the ball into his own goal.

Harris hooked a second goal in 22 minutes. Eight minutes later Hagan crowned a thrilling pass inside the penalty line with another goal. Near the interval Woodhouse scored an excellent goal from a corner kick for Preston, and Davies got a second point for the visitors from a free kick given for a foul.

LIVERPOOL v .OLDHAM

An attendance of 45,000 assembled at Anfield, where Oldham were the visitors. The game was hotly contested, and Ransom opened the score with a great shot from short range. Catton raced away and forced a corner. Scott fumbled the ball through his own goal.

Half time: Liverpool 1, Oldham Athletic 1.

After the change of ends Liverpool utterly overplayed their visitors, and the Oldham defence was helpless. Within the space of five minutes they registered three goals, Chambers, Johnson and Sheldon being the scorers. Gee scored for Oldham. Result: Liverpool 5, Oldham 2.

BURNLEY v. MIDDLESBROUGH

At Turf Moor 30,000 spectators watched the meeting of Burnley and Middlesbrough. Burnley were represented by the side which defeated Huddersfield, and Mordue apeared for the visitors, who had the wind behind them. They had rather the better of the play at the start, but Burnley responded well..

Towards the interval David Taylor defended smartly, but five minutes before time Elliott scored. Half-time: Middlesbrough 1, Burnley nil.

'The Slow Tragedy Of Brixton Jail'

MR. A. G. Gardiner, the distinguished London editor, who throughout and since the war has displayed a clearer understanding of the American people and their political tendencies than any of his confreres, has been writing for his paper a remarkable series of articles on "The Slow Tragedy of Brixton Jail."

In the article which we reproduce below he deals with the effect MacSwiney's hunger-strike was having in America. This article was written when the Lord Mayor of Cork had been without food for one month. As we pointed out in our editorial discussion of the death of MacSwiney, the influence on American affairs of his heroic sacrifice would be vast. Mr. Gardiner at the time of writing, September 11, declared that this hunger strike had become more important than the presidential election. He started by quoting from a despatch from the New York correspondent of The London Daily News, as follows:

> "The case of the Lord Mayor of Cork today overshadows even the Presidential contest. Photographs, despatches, editorials are displayed with increasing prominence, showing a genuine public interest."

Mr. Gardiner then proceeded:

In this flashlight upon the tragedy which is drawing to its close in Brixton Jail we have revealed something of the magnitude of the event.

It is not our relations with Ireland that are alone involved. It is the future of the two great English-speaking commonwealths, and, with that, the future of the world. The fact will not make any impression on that supreme architect of ruin, Sir Edward Carson. In Low's brilliant cartoon in The Star, he is represented with his puppets, Mr. Lloyd George and Mr. Bonar Law, on his knee, issuing from their obedient lips the command, "Let him die."

The reminder that America is watching him die—watching with such intensity that even the Presidential election is overshadowed—will not affect him. He will say, as he has said before, "Let America mind her own business and we'll mind ours."

But before the slow tragedy that is being enacted in Brixton Jail has passed beyond recall, it is well that we should face its major consequences. I suppose that there would be general agreement among all sane people that, in the world disintegration that the war and still more the "peace" have brought about, the main hope of a happy issue is an entente cordiale between the two great English-speaking systems. They are, roughly speaking, the only two powerful combinations left in the world, now that the European continent is a universal wreck. Together they occupy a third of the earth's surface. They have the dominant share of the world's raw material—wool, cotton, iron, coal, food. They command all its available credit. They represent the overwhelming preponderance of its industrial power. Their supremacy at sea is unchallenged. Their peoples, on the whole, represent the highest standard of efficiency, both mental and physical, extant.

Together these two systems have the world at their feet. They can make it what they like for good or ill. For this reason, the question of their relations is easily the most important question in the world today. If they agree to co-operate, they can give human society a new dispensation. They can banish war and establish international relations upon a civil instead of a military basis. They can, in a word, substitute the reign of law for the competition of armaments. President Wilson offered that solution to the Allies. It was defeated, first by the wreckers of Paris, and afterwards by the wreckers of Washington. But it can still be revived and carried through, on one condition, that Great Britain and the United States desire it, will it, and act together.

The alternative is that they will go separate ways. This will mean that the world competition of armaments will be renewed in a different setting. Hitherto the United States has followed a non-military and pacific policy. Secure behind three thousand miles of sea, it repudiated the war-like institutions of the old world. It cut itself off from European entanglements. It warned the European Imperialisms away, and under Lincoln it fought a great war to prevent the European system of armed and competitive nations being reproduced on American soil. With that victory the peace of America within was secured. It was assumed that that peace could never be disturbed from without.

The late war destroyed the illusion. It showed that under modern conditions the world is a unit, that a war that involves Europe involves America, and with that discovery and the consequent intervention, the policy of isolation ended, not incidentally, but for ever. If a pacific settlement of the world is not obtained, if we revert under the Peace of Paris to the rule of force, the United States must join in the new competition in armaments. It will build a great navy commensurate with its responsibilities and its power. It is not difficult to see how the impulse will come. It looks to the Pacific and sees it in the control of the Japanese navy. It looks to the Atlantic and sees it dominated by the British Navy. It remembers that Great Britain and Japan are allies. It distrusts Japan, and builds, and rightly builds, against emergencies. We do not need much gift of prophecy to see what follows—the alarm in this country, the panics in the Press, the prosperous harvests of the armaments firms, the slogan of "two keels to one," the "incidents," the gathering storm. It is all so dreadfully familiar that it hardly needs to be foreshadowed.

There are wicked men and insane men in both countries who contemplate this final catastrophe cheerfully and are working to bring it about. I call attention to a certain notorious paper which, ever since the war ended, has been sowing the seed of hatred of the United States in this country. I commend to the League of Nations the duty of looking into that matter, discovering the motive, dragging into the light the personality at the back of the crusade. But the consideration here is how is this fatal drift to be stemmed before it has made an impassable channel between the two countries. It is not enough to rest on the comfortable conviction that we are of the same blood, language, and tradition. Even when that was true, it did not prevent war. And it is no longer true. The United States is a great foreign country. The old English foundation is overlaid with the deposits of a dozen great immigrations—Irish, Poles, Italians, Germans, Scandinavians, Greeks. There is a numerous and influential—perhaps the most influential—element of the population which is deeply attached to the English idea and English thought, even when hostile to English policy; but the overwhelming mass of the people are neither pro-English nor anti-English. They are merely indifferent, ready, like our own or any other thoughtless populace, to be swept this way or that by the tide of events and the appeals of passion.

And if we cannot rely upon community of blood for that cordial understanding which is the hope of the best minds in both countries, neither can we find assurance in our historic relationships. We have had a century of peace with the United States, and in that century we have together done great things in the peaceful settlement of disputes. But it has been a century fit up by many bitter conflicts and many dangerous incidents. They have passed, partly because in the end wisdom has prevailed on both sides, but still more because in the past we have been preoccupied with the European chessboard and the United States has been isolated from the great game of world politics. That phase is over. The European chessboard is smashed for a generation, and the problems of world politics are the problems mainly of the British Empire and the American Commonwealth. And the preliminary to a cordial understanding between the two peoples is the clearing up of the practical issues that put grit in the machine of their relationships.

It is here that we touch the real gravity of what is happening at Brixton Jail—taking that incident as representative of the whole Irish tragedy. No English visitor to America in these days will escape two eager questions. The first is, "Why do you continue the alliance with Japan?" The second is, "Why don't you settle with Ireland?"

The significance of the former question covers the whole future of events in the Pacific, China and the Far East. The significance of the second bears upon the vital internal conditions of the United States itself.

We do not appreciate the elements of the Irish question until we understand that it is an American question as much as a British question. It is not, as Sir Edward Carson supposes, an impertinent curiosity that causes the case of the Lord Mayor of Cork to overshadow even the Presidential election. It is because its repercussions in America are more important than the election.

Consider the facts. At least, one in every ten persons in the United States is Irish. They form the most solid and formidable political mass in the country. They are formidable, not so much because of their numbers, as because they are the one political body moving with a single idea in a compact mass through the life of the nation. They have come across the Atlantic with bitterness in their hearts, and they are revenging themselves upon their oppressor in the New World. They are not socially negligible. They are in the seats of the mighty. I lunched one day last November with half a dozen of the most distinguished New York lawyers. Three of them were Irish. I went to the Harvard-Princeton match. The hero of the game was an Irish undergraduate of Harvard.

The most brilliant writers on the Press are Irish. Nearly every political caucus is under Irish control. Most of the great cities have Irish mayors. The police are almost invariably Irish. One of the most virulent supporters of Mr. Hearst's anti-British crusade's is an Irish judge of the Supreme Court of New York State. The Irish vote is the crucial element of every election. No candidate, whether for a mayoralty, a State governorship, the Senate or the Presidency, can ignore it. When Hiram Johnson came on the horizon last autumn as a possible candidate for the Presidency his first act was to go to Boston and deliver a bitter attack on this country. Everyone knew the meaning of it. He was making a bid for the Irish-American vote as a necessary step to secure adoption.

It must not be assumed that the Americans like this state of things. They hate it and deplore it. They see how it vitiates the whole atmosphere of their public life, imparting into it considerations that have nothing to do with the justice of an issue, the well-being of the community, the selection of the best man or the achievement of the wisest decision. They are conscious every day that because Ireland is misgoverned America is misgovered. The parish pump in Ohio flows with dirty water from a troubled well, three thousand miles away—a well, moreover, over which they have no control. They can do nothing to get rid of the mischief, although they have to bear its afflictions.

And it is for this reason that the question: "Why don't you settle with Ireland?" greets the English visitor like a refrain. It is not the Irish who ask the question most anxiously. In one sense, they are very well content. While this issue continues they are a sort of imperium in imperio. Their solidarity is assured and their influence on American affairs is unassailable. They know that the longer the issue is kept open the deeper will become the breach between the two democracies and the more hope there will be of making that breach final and complete. It is among those who are most friendly to this country and most hostile to the introduction of an alien issue into American affairs that the question is most eagerly asked. The more anxious an American is for an enduring understanding with England, the more anxious he is to see the Irish question cleared out of the way. It is not because he loves the Irish. It is not necessarily because he cares much about justice to Ireland. It is because he is concerned about the interests of his own country, and is tired of seeing the shadow of Dublin Castle projected across the Washington Capitol. Let the Irish grievance once be settled in the only way that can command the respect of a people bred in the tradition of freedom and self-government, and the American will know how to deal with the evil that remains. He will call on the Irish American to drop his hyphen, to decide on which side of the Atlantic his fatherland is situated, and to become absorbed in the current of the national life as every other people is absorbed. When that is done the most serious impediment to Anglo-American friendship will vanish and the path will be clear to that great task of world reconstruction which belongs to the English-speaking peoples, which can be accomplished by them only in harmony and which can be accomplished by no other human agencies that exist.

The Atlantic bridge that Anglo-American good-will must erect must have Ireland as the keystone of its central arch. Without a reconciled Ireland there can be no enduring reconciliation with America. That is why the tragedy in progress at Brixton Jail has such momentous reverberations across the Atlantic.

GETTING WELL OILED

Mexico is getting worried because the United States is obtaining concessions in that country to get ready supplies of oil for the Pacific Fleet. An article in one of the "Vex-Everybody-Co's" papers has the heading:

A Voice of Alarm
Calling upon The Mex. Gov.
To Beware!

The news editor tells me that this is a rotten head; but pass me the lyre:

Beware! Lest Mexico's embroiled,
In helping a 'Dry' fleet to be well oiled.
Beware! Lest other folk they vex,
By an exchange that dries up all our Mex.

A GROWL OR TOO

You remember the story about the negro who was being hanged on a Monday, and who, upon being asked if he had anything to say, remarked that it was a pretty rotten way to start the week. The negro was right, although we may presume that he was somewhat pleased to know that that would be the only time he'd ever start the week that way.

BE GOOD

But let us all have a growl. Politeness is a thing of the past. The good old days of courtesy and politeness have vanished.

Take the moon for instance. What in the name of everything sweet is the use of singing:

"Shine, shine moon,
"While I walk with Dinah dear"— or
"Moon, Moon serenely shining
"Don't go in too soon"—

When the funny old orb, that only shines in reflected light when all's said and done, gets peeved because the Trenches dim their artificial lights, and so, when it is as full as it can be, allows itself to get blotto, And why make such a fuss, making new comers think it was the Fourth of July, with squibs and crackers.

WHICH REMINDS ME

It was a September evening. The moon had risen above the horizon, the sun had not yet set. A pedestrian looked at the moon—then at the sun, and was not sure as to which was which. Meeting another walker he inquired: "Could you tell me which is the sun and which the moon." The walker hesitated and replied: "Sorry, Sir, but I'm a stranger myself in these parts."

BE POLITE

It is all very well heading its paragraph "Be Polite" but will anyone take the tip. Look at the shroff. Just look at him; for I can't. Candidly if I were a shroff I would be too much of a gentleman to go round dunning people for money.

Instead of these intruders sending a letter saying, "Dear old thing, I have been talking to the Boss, and he says he is a bit worried about exchange; and the Races are coming on; and we don't like the look of the next cotton market settlement, would you mind helping us out old man?"

Instead of doing this they merely send you a note bearing the legend, "Last and Final Demand." One of these days that tax man will be leaving his beastly blue slip "Last and Abso-bally-lutely the final notice, my lad." Well, let him.

BE GENTLE

Haven't you seen that on your bed room wall many and many a time before you cared if the country was dry or not? Didn't Dempsey see it over his little cot? Didn't Georges Carpentier read "Soyez Gentil" each morn as he awoke? And yet a Reutergram today tells that the two lads are to meet early in 1921. A lot of use the "Be Gentle" advice will be then. The only reminder of the bedroom text will be a sleep of at least ten long seconds for one of them.

BE THOUGHFUL!

Yes. The age of politeness is passed. Even the burglar stoops to nasty, sneaky, grasping ways. He waits until you are out of the way on your holidays, and the house is left in charge of the canary, and then he breaks in through the bathroom window instead of doing the thing properly—knocking at the door and saying, "Please do you want any burglaries today?"

DON'T SWEAR

And then there are the telephones! Now what I—well I ask you?

Nellie Bly Urges Fair Deal Labor Law

BY NELLIE BLY

Since there are employers calloused to a sense of decency—Since there are employes calloused to a sense of decency—

Wouldn't it be best for all concerned if a law was made governing dismissal and at the same time quitting without notice?

The habit is quite prevalent among employers of dismissing people without a single moment's warning. They contend that it is dangerous to inform a worker of pending dismissal. They argue that work is neglected, malicious things are done, and altogether damage is the inevitable result when a worker knows his term of employment is about to end.

The working people believe if they give notice of quitting, vicious things are done to interfere with or prevent their getting more favorable employment. In addition, if they have the decency to give notice, invariably they are ordered to quit immediately. As such situations are to the disadvantage of both the employer and the employe, why can't a very sensible law be established to govern this subject?

BOTH LOSE BY CHANGES

Every employer knows that an employe who has been with the firm for any length of time is an asset. And every employe knows that a change of work or a change of firms just consumes so much extra life and vitality. In addition, it holds a large element of uncertainty and risk. To both of them—employer and employe—the very fact of having been working together even for a short period means less wear, greater utility and higher efficiency.

Before the war some foreign countries had splendid laws for employers and employes. No one could be dismissed without one or two or even three months notice, depending upon the line of occupation. And no employe could find work who left without giving the same notice to the employer. This equality of interests resulted in benefit to both sides.

The other night, when coming to my hotel at midnight, I saw a desolate figure of a girl standing up on a corner. A cheap dress suit case rested upon the pavement at her feet. She glanced fearfully at every passerby, and yet she seemed to hesitate whether to address someone or not.

I stopped and spoke to her. I asked her where she was going. She said she didn't know. She was a stranger in the city, without friends or acquaintances, and though she had a month's wages in her pocket, she did not know where to go to find safe lodging for the night.

ADRIFT AMONG STRANGERS

A family traveling had found her in the West and persuaded her to come to New York with them. She had been dismissed at 9 o'clock. Her month was up at this time, but she was not notified that she was to be discharged until after dinner. Then she was required to finish up all her evening's work, to pack her belongings and to go.

She did so. And there she stood, helpless upon the street corner at 12 o'clock, midnight.

That is the one side to it. The employer suffers equally from all sorts of dishonorable acts. But if the law provided that every employe must have a work-book containing the name and address of every place the person had worked, as well as a recital of that person's conduct and reasons for dismissal, there would be some safeguard and security for the employer.

These books of employment are one of the compulsory methods used abroad. They are very sane and proper and should be instituted here.

I know of a case where a man was employed for twelve years by a firm. There was no question of his ability, loyalty, trustworthiness, or of the large and profitable volume of business he brought to the house. But he was extremely modest and very shy. He never could talk on the subject of his wages, though in selling goods he was a cracker jack at obtaining the best for his firm.

At last, driven to despair by the inconsideration of his employers and the high cost of living, he ventured to write a modest little note suggesting that he must have an increase in salary as he was running into debt trying to live upon the meager sum he had received. This salary, by the way, was exactly the same as he had been receiving since 1908, without a penny increase.

Then several weeks passed without any intimation from the president of the company that the letter had been received. One morning a new man walked in and handed a letter from the president to the old employe. It was a brief, curt note of dismissal! There was no regret, no words of appreciation for long, faithful service, nothing to ease or soften the brutality of the blow.

By deeds like this we make Bolsheviks.

And since then the new man has had the nerve to ask the old employe to come in to give him pointers and help him out of difficulties.

And the old employe did it!

HOW BOY WAS TREATED

I know a homeless boy, a boy without father or mother or brother or sister, who has been working on an elevator for some time. At the end of his week, which terminated at 1 o'clock, he was dismissed. He had not done anything wrong. His services had been satisfactory, but the firm was cutting down its force. Now that boy may get a job at once, and he may not. He had been receiving until the last month $18 a week. For four weeks he had been receiving $20. He has had to pay $4 a week for a mean little cubby hole to sleep in, and all the rest of his money went for laundry, carfare and food. He had to live, of course, in restaurants.

Now when this boy quit he was given his week's salary which would leave him $16 after he paid for his room rent, due the same night. If he gets a job before that $16 is consumed, well and good, but if he doesn't, what will be the result?

How long would you go hungry? How long would I go hungry? We don't need to expect any more from that boy than we would from ourselves, and vicious gnawing in the stomach can create all sorts of queer theories in the brain.

I had a girl apply to me as a stenographer. She was excellent, rapid and accurate. I was ready to employ her until she told me she was still employed, and that she was going to leave her firm, where she had been for a year, on pay day without a moment's notice. Why? Oh, because there was somebody connected with the house that she didn't like. I didn't employ that girl.

When one considers the responsibilites which in almost every case rest upon working men and women, it is ghastly to think what suffering is entailed by immediate dismissals. Very often the dismissal of a man or even the dismissal of a girl means that children and dependent adults must go hungry. The agony and fear and despair that come into the mind of the person who is deprived unexpectedly and unpreparedly of his wage is pitiable.

SUFFERING UNNECESSARY

All this suffering is unnecessary. It is cruel. It is detrimental and dangerous to the human character. It creates evil and crime and immorality.

It could and it should be made impossible. A little law and a little regulation would redound to the benefit of workers and of employers. It would be a great aid to business. It would tend to decrease crime. It would also decrease pauperism.

Besides it is just and humane. It is the only proper way to bring about a fair treatment on both sides of the fence. It does not leave anything to the whim or ill humor or dishonor and disloyalty of a being.

Let us—be we employer or employe—help to get a law making notice of dismissal and notice of resigning compulsory.

Candidates And Farmers

(From Sun and New York Herald)

The contrast of method was again seen in striking illustration at the Minnesota State Fair. Governor Cox visited the exposition, mounted the seat of a racing sulky, took into his hands the lines that led to the mouth of an able pacing horse, pulled his soft black hat down over his eyes, and drove a fast exhibition mile for the admiration of the grand stand spectators.

The telegraph did not tell us whether the Democratic candidate for President of the United States was accompanied, during his whirl around the track, by a large black cigar, lighted and held firmly between his teeth at an upward angle of forty-five degrees. If not, one characteristic trick of campaign appeal was certainly missed by Mr. Cox.

Two days later, at the same place, Senator Harding delivered to half a hundred thousand hearers the great speech which was read, is being read, and will be read every day until election by farmers everywhere in the United States. And it will be read with increasing faith in the dignity and sincerity of this gentleman's intellectual processes, for it is full of common sense and right feeling and void of demagogic appeal.

On the whole, we should say that Mr. Harding did more at Minneapolis to invite the confidence and command the respect of the agriculturists of the Middle West and of the whole Union than if he had climbed into a sulky and beaten Mr. Cox's time around the course.

Garrett P. Serviss's Article

Popular Misapprehension About Origin Of The Human Race Causes Many Strange Theories And Leads To Many Ridiculous Questions

BY GARRETT P. SERVISS

(Famous Astronomer and Writer on Subjects of Scientific Interest)

"It has been stated by learned men—Darwin and others—that we owe our origin to monkeys, reptiles, fish, etc. As the human race has been known to exist thousands of years, why do we not find humans who have recently originated from any of the above sources?—F. C. L., Paterson, N. J."

There is a good deal of misapprehension behind all questions of this kind, and this misapprehension ought to be cleared up before the established facts are discussed. Neither Darwin nor anyone else possessing any standing in the world of science has ever affirmed that "we owe our origin" to monkeys, reptiles, fish, etc.

The general evolutionary doctrine is simply that all animals are the result of development tending from lower and generally to higher and more specialised forms. It may be that there was but one animal organism to begin with, a simple living cell, and that all animal forms have developed from this along differing lines of evolution.

SINGLE PRIMARY ELEMENT

So, with regard to the universe of matter, or of suns and worlds, it may be that, at bottom, everything existed not only in a nebulous state but that the first nebula was composed of a single primary element, out of which many have since been developed.

Only in the most general way can any type of celestial body, or any class of living organism, be said to owe its origin to any lower or earlier class. This is particularly so in the case of the evolution of our race, for the human type does not occupy a lineal place in a procession of forms, more or less resembling man, but it is a special branch, or offshoot, from a stem that also gave rise to such creatures as apes and monkeys.

It is only necessary, in order to see how far science is from asserting that man is descended from the man-like apes, to remark that, according to the evolutionary record, the human line set off from the general stem at an earlier time than did the line, or lines, of the chimpanzee, orang, gorilla, etc. We might then more logically say that the apes owe their origin to man than that man owes his origin to the apes.

MANY SPECIES

As to human relationship with forms of animals bearing no outward resemblance to man, as, for instance, reptiles and fishes, it is only necessary to point out that the connection can only be of a general structural character. For instance, there are thousands of species of animals, all of which belong to the vertebrate, or backboned type, and which, by virtue of that fact, are related to one another, and one of these species constitutes the human race.

Long before any animal bearing any resemblance to man, or to apes or monkeys, had appeared on the earth, the backbone had been established as an anatomical feature of animal life, beginning probably among fish-like creatures. But there was an earlier period when there were no animals with backbones even. And again, long before man, or his nearest imitators had appeared, some of the vertebrate types of animals had assumed to mammal form. Yet, even today the world is full of animals that never reached the vertebrate, much less the mammal, type of development. Their evolution was not directed that way.

MISCONCEPTION OF TIME

What we have been saying ought to suffice to answer the question why we do not find any recent origination of beings of the human type.

Probably the greatest obstacle to popular understanding of the true meaning of evolution is the general lack of comprehension of the enormous lapse of time that the past history of this globe and its inhabitants cover. To speak of centuries or thousands of years in this connection is something like reckoning the length of a voyage across the Atlantic in minutes or seconds.

British Spurn Week-End Marriages

BY UNIVERSAL SERVICE

London, September 13.—"Week-end" marriages as advocated by Fannie Hurst and Jane Burr, American writers and sex psychology students, have received the cold shoulder here.

Miss Burr has started a piquant controversy on the subject in an article in which she declared that "all women are sick to death of marriage," advocating the adoption by Britain of the feminist apartment house, a model of which she declares is now being planned in New York.

"These apartments consist of living room, bedroom and bathroom," explains Miss Burr. "No husband is permitted to live with his wife and no wife with her husband. They may have apartments side by side, but their happiness is to be safeguarded by fireproof walls and locks. There will be a nursery on the roof with professional mothers in charge."

Enter Dame Clara Butt, world-famous singer.

"Oh, no," she says. "Miss Burr may be right, but—marriage is a free institution which has been ruined by laws being too one-sided. Easy divorce, women magistrates and women on boards of education may alter this. The majority of unhappy marriages (and they are in a majority) are brought about chiefly by girls' ignorance and lack of understanding. Friendship is as necessary as love for a successful marriage."

Dame Butt did not discuss the feasibility of the feminist apartment house plan.

"But revolt against marriage is spreading," said Miss Burr. "I am only one among many who carries the deadly germ among her sisters, and I succeed in inoculating at least 300 women every year."

Miss M. L. Seaton Tiedeman, noted English writer and student, says: "In spite of all present day developments, the great majority of modern girls—however intellectual—want a husband, a home and children."

Miss Burr agrees. "But they want a husband when they want him, and they want a home of their own making," she says.

'HOME' IS MAGIC WORD

S. J. W. Earle, of Watford, England, takes a direct issue with the American advocate. His standpoint is typically English.

"All that is held dear by right-thinking folk," he says, "be they of much or little learning, is summoned up in that magic word 'home,' and the united love of father, mother and children. Where does love come in in Miss Burr's scheme of things? Who delegated to her the authority to state that all women are sick to death of marriage. And whoever heard of love wanting to be safe-guarded by fireproof walls and locks."

"Two English Readers," writing from Ilford, a London suburb, state that to them "the picture of our trans-Atlantic visitor, who on her own (and apparently proud) confession has twice shown herself incapable of discernment where offers of marriage are concerned, leaving what we thought was the Land of Liberty to teach womankind how to be happy, though married, is the quintessence of absurdity. If the study of marriage is to be fruitful, something more is needed than a close personal acquaintance with morbid conditions."

SICK OF MARRIAGE

Miss Burr's "morbid conditions" are found in the following description:

"All women are sick to death of marriage. Our mothers are sick of it and their mothers were before them, but the lie has to be kept up, the illusion maintained, for the safety of the coming generation. But is it safety to push our young girls and boys off into something that we know beforehand has made us wretched. Of course, it isn't safety. It is disaster of the blackest variety.

"The program laid down for the future woman will take gallantry and health to carry out. To begin with, we've got to quit working the men on that threadbare business of being the mother of their children. We've got to be trained to jobs, and we've got to learn how to be cast aside. Even the newest of new women jilts a dozen men, but howls to heaven if one deserts her. But this is because she is still suffering under the delusion that her market value has decreased. It has not decreased unless she is a dependent woman.

PULLED TWO WAYS

"The modern woman feels herself pulled both ways. She reaches forward for freedom and at the same time turns her eyes back longingly toward home and babies and what she thinks a husband ought to be.

"There should be no more girls born for a hundred years. But what are we working women to do with our babies after we have them? We are going to turn them over to professional mothers."

A Buckinghamshire "pater" puts forth a point of view that is being given serious attention. He says:

"Miss Burr has dealt another salutary shock to Mrs. Grundy—and what are we going to do about it? Many men, as well as women, have felt there was something seriously amiss—something discordant with human nature as they knew it in themselves and others—in our system of married and parental life; but owing to the difficulty of getting it discussed people have been inclined to think the matrimonial trouble individual and peculiar rather than general.

"The crux of the matter is the children. Untold misery has been endured by parents to keep up a home for the children regardless of the fact that a home which does not keep up by virtue of its inherent and happy cohesion is probably inferior to a well conducted creche or nursery school. Think of the waste of human energy involved in two grown-up parents, and possibly some domestics as well, guiding the existence of one over-governed infant! The professional mother, alas! must be resorted to if amateur mothers are not properly trained to their business. Training in fatherhood, too, is not unnecessary.

"We have lost natural guidance or instinct in conjugal and parental relations. Convention is failing us. There is nothing for it but education or re-education. Or, if animal instinct is not worth recovering, is it possible and incumbent on us to form by education a new human tradition, by which our posterity may do naturally what we have to learn painfully?

The Agricultural Problem

(From Toronto Mail and Empire)

The people living in towns and cities should not look upon agriculture as a thing remote from their affairs. A very large percentage of the urban population of Canada come from the rural districts. They should pride themselves on that origin and should never lose touch with the ways, especially the economic ways, of the country people. If possible, they should do some farming themselves. It must cheer the farmers to see men of means in the cities buying farms in the country and putting them to the highest productive use. Men often publicly deplore the fact that agricultural production is not increasing faster. They tell us that the time is near when it will be impossible for the farmers now on the land to keep up the supply of beef and of milk for the inhabitants of towns and cities. That is a serious state of affairs. Last year the supply of potatoes was not sufficient. These are matters for which the full weight of care should not be left on the shoulders of the farmers. Our boards of trade, our labor unions, our manufacturers' associations and other industrial and commercial bodies should feel bound to give their best consideration to the problem of agricultural production.

DO THINGS PROPERLY

Someday or other you'll want a Fox Skin. So why not do things properly, why not prepare for that day. Why not buy a Fox Skin that is different from the ordinary China Fox Skin. Let an expert who knows all about Fox Skins select one for you, a real beauty with nice long fur, and oh, what a bushy tail! Send a Chinese Post Office money order for $25 to MR. ELLY WIDLER, TA TSIENLU, SZECHWAN PROVINCE, and he will at once mail you one of these specially selected Tibetan Fox Skins.

Sold: 1,220,280 lbs. (about 544 tons).

In spite of the weak tendencies of both the London and New York markets, many "bears" thought it wiser to cover in the face of the ready demand which was manifest on all sides at the auction. The trade upon the whole was buying freely at well over the equivalent parity of the consuming markets.

Standard Ribbed Smoked Sheet opened at about 50 cents but after a while rose until 53½ cents was paid. Good F.A.Q. Sheet found a ready demand at about one cent under Standard prices, but low F.A.Q. and Off Quality Sheet had to be sold at a much greater discount.

Standard First Latex, Off Color Latex and Mottled Crepe sold to a very keen market, speculators preferring to take up these grades on account of their scarcity and the high premium in London, whilst "bears" could not consider it profitable to remain short under the circumstances. 60 cents was the top price realised for Standard Crepe.

Brown, Dark, and Barky Crepes were readily taken up, but only at last week's prices.

At the continuation this morning, 54½ cents was paid for Standard Sheet but there was otherwise no change.

Mever and Measor.
